

CANTER INTO A Scottish Equine Career

The equine industry is one of the most dynamic and diverse within the land-based sector. There are a wide range of employment opportunities from livery yards, competition and racehorse yards to equine welfare centres, farriery, saddlery, the armed forces and the mounted police.

The care of horses and ponies requires skilled, devoted and well-trained staff; people who are dedicated to the welfare of the horse - 365 days of the year. In return, you will find a career that is amazingly rewarding and personally satisfying.

The qualifications structure is flexible. You can choose how and where you wish to learn. Whether you choose an academic qualification at college or university or follow the vocational route in the workplace, you will find a qualification to suit you. This guide illustrates possible career pathways and demonstrates that there are a range of qualifications to help your own career in the equine industry.
