Update for All Training Providers

Following on from the communications sent out on April 1st, 2025, please note that when booking Training courses on Quartz Web, A valid course start time is now required and mandatory.

This information helps us keep track of when training courses are taking place.

Please refer to the example below for guidance.

Book a course

Save time by entering either part of the course name or course code into the Product box below. This will then display courses matching the text you have entered.

Alternatively you can use the Product Category and Product Sub Category filters to find your course.
